

Lee's Ten Commandments for CS 135

- I) Thou shalt read the book and notes.
- II) Thou shalt begin the program immediately.
- III) Thou shalt work the problem out by hand first.
- IV) Thou shalt develop an algorithm.
- V) Thou shalt not covet thy neighbor's code.
- VI) Thou shalt not use global variables.
- VII) Thou shalt comment thine code.
- VIII) Thou shalt test thine code.
- IX) Thou shalt add more comments to thine code.
- X) Thou shalt test thine code again.